

174-178 Main Street St, Stawell

Proud Victorian

Reflecting Stawell's golden past this significant and substantial Victorian building combines a spacious top floor residence, extensive first floor administration areas and three ground floor shops/offices each with basements.

Built in 1876 for local gold mine owner and merchant Duncan McKellar the very comfortable upstairs residence includes three bedrooms all with built-in robes, generous lounge and separate dining room, well equipped modern kitchen, bathroom and laundry.

The building has front and rear access and also includes a garage and small garden area. Recently re-roofed and with one office let this property offers a great deal.
